

The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, Is Ended

St Clement

John Ellerton (1826-93) Clement Scholefield (1839-1904) arranged by James O'Donnell (b 1961)

$\text{♩} = 82$

The day - thou ga - vest, Lo - rd, is en - ded, the We tha - nk thee tha - t thy Chu - rch un - slee - ping, while As o' er each con - ti - ne - nt and is - land the The su - n that bi - ds us re - st is wa - king our So be - it Lo - rd; thy thro - ne shall ne - ver; like dark - ness fa - lls at thy be - hest; to earth rolls on - ward in - to light, through dawn leads on - a - no - ther day, the bre - thren 'nea - th the wes - tern sky, and earth's proud em - pires pass - a - way; thy thee - our mor - ning hy - mns asc - en - ded, thy a - ll the wo - rld her wa - tch is kee - ping, and voi - ce of pray - er is ne - ver si - lent, nor ho - ur by ho - ur fresh li - ps are ma - king thy ki - ng - dom sta - nds, and gro - ws for - e - ver, - till 14

6

10

pra - ise shall sanc - ti - fy - our rest. night re - sts not no - w by da - y or di - es the stra - in of pra - ise a - way high won - drous do - ings hea - rd on high a - ll thy crea - tures o - wn thy sway